

Understanding the CHALLENGES of
DOMESTIC VIOLENCE
among KENYAN & OTHER EAST AFRICAN WOMEN in KENYA &
THE UNITED STATES

LECTURE featuring
Dr. Grace
Bonareri
Mose

Hosted by the Institute on Domestic Violence in the African American Community (IDVAAC) and the University of Minnesota's School of Social Work

For more information, please call 612-624-9217 and leave a message or email owilliam@umn.edu

DETAILS

DATE	APRIL 10, 2013
TIME	10:00AM – 12:00PM
LOCATION	215 BEN POMEROY STUDENT AND ALUMNI CENTER On the University of Minnesota St. Paul Campus, 55108 across from Peters Hall and next to the Gortner Avenue Parking Ramp
CREDIT	1 CEU FOR ATTENDEES

Dr. Grace Mose is currently a Professor in Women's Studies at Kenyatta University, in Kenya East African and will be visiting us to offer this lecture. Her work has focused on addressing domestic violence among Kenyan women as well as women from other African Countries. She has worked as the Director of the Diverse Communities Health Initiative (DCHI) of the Education Fund of Family Planning Advocates of New York State where she has organizes conferences and provides trainings in culturally and linguistically appropriate services to health care and other human service providers. In addition she works with family planning centers to develop and implement best practices including action plans and organizational assessments related to culturally and linguistically appropriate services.

Dr. Mose also recently founded and directs the Foundation for African Women, a charitable organization dedicated to the elimination of gender disparities through economic empowerment projects, civic education, and various gender issues including gender-based violence in Africa. She is a renowned public speaker at local, national, and international forums.

Previously, as a research and program associate, Dr. Mose worked to develop DCHI initiatives. She has prior research in harmful health issues confronting women in Africa and has published a book on female genital mutilation. As a counselor and advocate for women and brings a rich history of work on women's issues. Prior to joining DCHI, Dr. Mose worked as director of Domestic Violence Hotlines for New York State Coalition Against Domestic Violence (NYSCADV). She worked as a part-time instructor at the State University of New York at Albany (SUNYA) in the Department of Women's Studies and has worked as a Legislative Aid for Assemblywoman Barbara Clark. Dr. Mose holds a Doctorate in Women's Studies from University at Albany–State University of New York.